Said a Rockland citizen standing at the depot and waving his hand over the adjacent territory, "When I was a boy I used to build camps in the thick woods which grew all along here People say Rockland is not growing. Thirty-five years ago there were only three stores in the village, and I can pick out thirty stores here now, each one of which is doing as much business and more than those three taken together Out back of us here for miles is as good a farming country and as fine farms as can be found anywhere. In the city here you can't hire any kind of a house for less than one hundred dollars, and you have to pay a hired girl, who can boil potatoes and sweep the floor, three dollars a week and board her. Rockland has grown and is growing. Times seem dull and perhaps they are, but business is livelier in Rockland than in most any other place of its size in the State. The Late Judge Godfrey

MEMORIAL OF HIS LIFE WRITTEN FOR THE MAINE HISTORICAL SOCIETY BY HON. ... WILLIAMS

John Edwards Godfrey of Bangor whose death occurred on February 20 1884 was born at Hancock Me. September 6, 1809 He was the son of John and Sophia Godfrey ... the first of whom was then a practising lawyer at that place ... Miss Mary ... 27 1781, and died at Bangor May 28 18... at the age of 81 years ... the daughter of Col ... born at Hallowell July ... 1786 ... marriage took place at Bangor May ... 1806 ... descent from Richard Godfrey ... immediately after landing at ... in 1632

In John's boyhood his father removed to Bangor with his family and there ... he continued to reside during the remainder of his life In October 1831 after a period of ... education in the public schools of Hampden and Bangor and at the academies ... he entered upon the study of law in the office ... and under the instruction of the Hon William Abbott ... having previously studied ... with his father for several years in the same course. He was admitted as a member of the bar at the Court of Common Pleas ... October ... 183... After his first admission ... at Ellsworth ... 1833 but after about one year he returned to Bangor where he continued ... the work of his profession until his death

On May 18 1837, he married Miss Elizabeth Angela Stackpole daughter of David Stackpole, of Portland by whom he had two children John Franklin Godfrey lawyer of Los Angeles, Cal ... and George Frederick Godfrey of Bangor born Oct 23 1840 His wife died May 27 1868 and on Sept ... 187... he married again Miss Laura ... daughter of ... Schwartz by whom he had a child, a daughter Ethel, born Sept ... 1874 both of whom survive him

Mr. Godfrey was for several years a member of the ... of the City Council, in 1840 1847-1848 and ... of the Common Council during the last of which he was its president and from 1860 to 1870 of the Board ... He also served as a member of the School Committee from 1847 to 18... and from 1874 to 1877 In 1856 he was elected Judge of Probate for Penobscot County and continued to serve for six successive terms in said office to which he was elected by the people thus for 24 years in all until 1881

In 1863 he was elected and became a member of the Maine Historical Society and continued as such until his death, always active in its proceedings. He was one of the originators and useful members of the Bangor Historical Society ... 1864 and on the death of Hon E F Hamlin was elected its president in 1874, which place he held for the remainder of his life

During all his manhood Mr. Godfrey was an active worker and participant in almost every kind of industry and enterprise which tended to promote the public good or advance the best interests of society. He never allowed his professional rank to exclude other useful employments from receiving a due share of his attention Although he had not the advantages of a collegiate education, yet by diligent study in late years, he largely made up for the want and indeed became a scholar of high rank, doing credit as such in all the various walks of life, far in advance, indeed, of the many who enjoyed all the benefits of the highest institutions of learning His mind was stored with the richest material of practical information on almost every subject of useful learning and he came to possess a peculiar art or ability to write and make public his views on any and all subjects He had a happy style of expression and mode of thought that never failed to interest the reader, and at the same time to inform him of the varied contents of his own mind He held the pen of a ready writer, and had a well stored mind to give it rich material to indite

Though well versed on almost every practical subject, his particular forte was historical research and enquiry, accompanied with a peculiar and unusual success that is found only to attend upon diligence in application and wisdom to guide the investigation His most particular success in this line was in his explorations, as they may be called, into the early history of his own State and county No man probably had a more perfect knowledge of the early annals of Eastern Maine, including Old Norumbega and the prehistoric events of that region, as well as the history of the city after its inhabitancy commenced Owing to this quality it was that he was selected as the orator on the occasion of Bangor's centenary celebration in 1869 The satisfactory manner with which he executed this trust, and the great value of his address, as a historical memento of the past, is uniformly recognized by all and will ever remain a monument to his memory. Upon the contemplated semi-centenary of the city's charter, on the year of his death, he alone was looked forward to as the party who should be again selected to perform the like part of the service, and thus finish the history which he had brought down to the present century. His death, however, came just in season to defeat his candidacy, and with it the celebration itself. The volume, which perpetuates the valuable history alluded to, also contains further and pleasant evidence of his qualities In other contributions for the occasions. "The Rhyme of the Ancient City Hall," and "To the Penobscot," Now ... both bear testimony to a merit not to be overlooked or disregarded

On many other occasions and in various ways did Mr Godfrey exhibit a peculiar talent as a writer of antique and hidden events for the benefit of the world and especially of the community to which he lived Volumes VII and VIII of the Maine Historical Society's Collections bear ample evidence of this proposition "The Ancient Penobscot, The Pilgrims at Penobscot ... Baron de St Castine ... Bishop and the ... Memorial Notice of Edward Kent" are among the articles contributed by him and are evidence of great versatility of talent as well as of valuable information In addition to these he also furnished important contributions to the "History of Penobscot County" filling a very large portion of all the material contained within the pages of the work published in 1882, including ... his county ... previous "History of the Press of Maine" published in 1872 and 1879 he was also a valued contributor of important matter

Closely connected with his work of ... is already described ... his other work as editor. Having quite ... connected himself ... and with zeal to the advocacy of the Anti Slavery cause of the ... Liberty party In 1841 he became the editor of the Liberty party journal called the Bangor Gazette which he took charge of ... two years the first year as a weekly and the second as a weekly and daily ... Respecting this he says in his own memorandum "I was very hopeful ... these two years and trust that my labors were not wholly fruitless in some respects although peculiarly I was unable ... The paper was conducted with vigor and ability through the ... of literary merit as well as ... of doctrines which ... spoused at a time when the party was under the ban of public sentiment

In politics previous to his connection with the Free Soil party he was ... and enthusiastic Whig ... in the support and spread of his principles To use his own language "In the Harrison political campaign I was an ardent Whig doing my share of the song singing, parading, tramping and hurrahing in that uproarious wrangle After the formation of the Republican party he ... a vigorous supporter of its doctrines ... always in their advocacy

As a lawyer Mr Godfrey ... high stand at the bar as one of ... whose opinions were reliable and advice worthy to be followed He was ... of legal authors and writers and a safe expounder of ... treatises Because ... elected ... Judge of Probate ... at the first election ever held of that office in Maine and on subsequent elections was chosen for the same position ... twenty four successive ... of administration of that office ... Judge ... distinguished for his intimate knowledge of the probate law and for his wise and ... judgments ... which assured his continuance ... His judgments were seldom appealed from ... overruled

... connected with his chief professional positions is the fact of his holding many other minor trusts of a similar kind Besides his oft repeated appointments as Justice of the peace and quorum ... he also held the office of notary public commissioner of deeds for the States of Massachusetts, New York, New Hampshire, California, Iowa and other States ... commissioner for taking testimony for the United States Court of Claims ... public administrator until his promotion to the judgeship During the war he held the post of commissioner of ... until its close

Attention has already been made to Mr Godfrey's interest in municipal matters having for very many years been a member of the city government ... in all the ... his interest in ... of its branches at different times In educational affairs he was also equally interested and, as a result of this trait of his character and his peculiar ... he occupied the place of ... of the board of superintending committee for a great many years

In horticulture too he took a deep interest He was among the active originators of the Horticultural Society of his city and a supporter of the Agricultural Society of his county Of the former he was ... during almost the whole ... its formation He was also a member of the State Pomological Society in which he took a deep interest

In music too he had a peculiar taste ... to all efforts to promote its ... For several years he held the place of president of the Penobscot Musical Association

He was always distinguished for his ... and ... as well as for his exemplary habits of industry and temperance He was a man of great congeniality ... and courteous to all his relations with the world kind, generous and benevolent Combined with these qualities he possessed a mind of rich culture thoroughly disciplined and stored with information and learning on all practical subjects He was thus a gentleman whose society was very naturally courted and whose acquaintance was very generally sought His large library, a true outcome of his mind, was made up of volumes of every kind of useful contents and interest ... formation His home was one that all could relish as a place of genial companionship and pleasant resort a home of comfort and mental as well as physical enjoyment and social intercourse

It is hardly necessary to add, of such a man that he was a father and husband who made home happy to the exclusion of all necessity of finding elsewhere the means of pleasing entertainments and diversion He was too a man of refined taste, and devoted to the cultivation of art in its various branches This led him to detect and to gain a quick perception of the beautiful in nature, a quality that always exhibited itself in his practical life and habits In the wild scenery of "Lovers Leap" he realized a romance peculiarly pleasant to him, which induced him to select its neighboring cliffs as the locality of his successive residences where he spent ... the later years of his mature life The natural wildness of the scenery overlooking the calm waters of the Kenduskeag, flowing gently by the place, but far below the level of his domicile, had an attraction which amply repaid him for all the additional labor which the distance from his place of business daily compelled him to overcome

Fond of humor, he always enjoyed its exercise and the telling of and listening to anecdotes and reminiscences and agreeable conversations. At the same time he was ever on his guard on such occasions against all breaches of modesty and common sense. These characteristics always made him a favorite with the young of both sexes, for however old, he never failed to be as young in feeling and expression as were his auditors or companions on such occasions Fond of society they were equally fond of him and always enjoyed his presence for he was eminently a social man and particularly sought for in company

He was, too, a man of remarkably industrious habits, always busy and seldom idle, having some use in view in the promotion of some good to the community at large or to individual members; and nothing more conduced to his happiness than to know or feel that he had helped to make the world better or some of its inhabitants more comfortable and happy. Nor was his benevolence wholly expended on humanity alone, for the brute creation also shared in his benevolent efforts to improve its condition and save its members from unnecessary and cruel treatment, through the aid of societies for the amelioration of their condition.

On the 20th day of February, 1884, while in his usual health and in the enjoyment of life, and sportively playing with his little daughter, he suddenly threw up his hands with delight at something which she had done, and expired in the midst of his laughter, while his hands were thus uplifted Thus, without a single minute's notice or warning in the bosom of his family with his loved wife and daughter by his side he silently passed from earth to meet those who had gone before

The bar of his county and the Bangor Historical society both took appropriate notice of his death and adopted resolutions and other proceedings fitting to the occasion. The press of the city and of the State generally as well as of other special notices of his death ... in a becoming manner This memorial of his life and character is placed on file with the Maine Historical Society as a tribute of his worth and appreciation ... his work of ... preserving the history of our State

FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1885.

It is currently noted that the State Department seems to thrive pretty well during the absence of that eminent Democratic statesman, Secretary Bayard.

"As a rule when a public man takes to lecturing he is in the last stages of decomposition," says the New York World. This is sort of a back-hander for Secretary Bayard who has just been lecturing in the South.

The President is much agitated over the political situation in New York and is very anxious to harmonize the different factions hence the frequent trips of Secretary Whitney to the Empire State. A Democratic defeat in New York this fall would be a hard blow for the Administration.

The Fairfield Journal, commenting on the Commercial's impatience, says: "Bro. Bass would probably like to run the Government about a month." There is no doubt of it. Mr. Bass is one of those necessary persons who would like to run anything and everything with which he is in any way interested, but if he meets with no better success in his efforts to run the President than he did in trying to run Mr. Wilson off and himself on to the Democratic National Committee, the government is in no immediate danger so far as he is concerned.

The New York World, in reply to the charge that the removal of ex-Senator Bruce to make room for a Democratic politician is a direct affront to the colored race, coolly remarks that "the present Administration was not materially assisted by the colored voter in his effort to get into power and we presume that up to date the colored man has had about as much as he expected." That is without doubt the position of the Administration to a dot, the Mugwumps to the contrary notwithstanding. The men who voted for Mr. Cleveland are to be provided for regardless of any civil service rules.

The New York Evening Post is fond of attributing all talk about a "clean sweep" to Republican organs. This is of course a mere subterfuge as the talk of sweeping changes in the civil service has its origin in the Democratic papers or is given out by Democratic politicians, and as a striking illustration of the point we quote the following from the New York Sun: "The new broom is going to do some sweeping. Unless all signs fail there will be more removals, transfers and appointments here in the next thirty days than there have been in the first three months of the new Administration."

The Belfast Age, which recently indorsed the appointment of one of the Copahunking says: "The Republican papers are gradually schooling themselves up to the revolutionary idea of the Senate putting a stop to the operations of the government by refusing to confirm the President's appointments. The revolutionary idea is excellent. Mr. Rust has evidently adopted Ex-Gov. Plaisted's idea of the appointing power. The Senate has a duty to perform as well as the President, and when efficient officers are removed to make places for Democrats, the Senators will undoubtedly ask some very pertinent questions, which will have to be answered to the satisfaction before such nominations are confirmed.

The appointment of Henry C. Urner to be Marshal in Cincinnati is a black eye for Senator Payne and the coal oil crowd. Urner was the candidate of the "Mossbacks" and was supported by that faction of the Democracy represented by Pendleton and his friends. The coal-oil faction had as their candidate Henry Bohl, whom they ... two years ago when he was a member of the Legislature ... candidate ... At a conference held not long ago at Secretary Whitney's house in New York, presided over by Senator Payne, Mr. Bohl was formally recommended to the President for the appointment. It is not thought that the appointment of Mr. Urner will make Senator Payne and his friends very happy.

The Ohio Republican Convention yesterday was a large, earnest and enthusiastic gathering. Every county was fully represented and the report says that over 1000 people were present at the proceedings. Judge Foraker was nominated on the first ballot and other officers were nominated by acclamation. The platform will commend itself to the voters as a clear and sound presentation of the issues involved in the campaign. The Republicans of Ohio mean to redeem that State this fall and the harmonious manner in which the business was transacted, in spite of the reported dissensions, will carry dismay into the ranks of the Democrats, many of whom however had previously expressed their fears that their chances of success were very slight.

A despatch from Philadelphia says: The announcement of the appointment of Daniel M. Fox, ex-Mayor of this city, as Superintendent of the Mint, does not carry with it the satisfaction that many of the older heads of the party had anticipated. The young element are decidedly opposed to the selection and are outspoken in denunciation. Mr. Fox, while Mayor of the city, lost the admiration of the better class of Democrats by his selecting the worst element in the city as members of the police force. He is openly charged with having no executive ability and of being a man who can be easily led by those to whom he is indebted for his nomination. This, together with his being a bitter partisan in politics, gives but slight hope of any of the present incumbents being retained.

The Democrats appear to have chosen Connecticut for the fighting ground of the immediate future, says the Tribune. They are planning for a vigorous campaign in legislative elections, hoping to elect in 1887 a Democratic successor to Senator Hawley. Federal appointments in that State are made with that end in view, and "Seven Mule Barnum" is evidently preparing to repeat some of the fine work which has made his career glorious in the annals of Democracy. But Connecticut is normally a Republican State, and there ought to be no doubt whatever about the complexion of the Legislature of 1887. There will be none if the Republicans keep their eyes open, nip possible party dissensions in the bud and with perfected organization force the fighting upon the ground of protection to the labor and industries that form the very life of the State.

Another "offensive partisan" has been found in the Interior Department in the person of a crippled Union soldier. A Washington despatch says: "Richard Middleton, the coal inspector of the Interior Department, was summarily dismissed from his position. He was the captain and organizer of a company in this city in 1861 which carried out the peaceful inauguration of President Lincoln. He served throughout the war as an officer of the 50th New York Engineers, and was made its Lieutenant Colonel for gallantry on the field. He is a cripple from injuries received in the war and was appointed at the instance of the Grand Army of the Republic by Mr. Teller to the place from which he has been removed." The action of the Administration in this case affords a striking contrast with its treatment of the Hazlehurst post-office matter. In the case of the Union soldier he is "summarily dismissed" and no questions asked, while the co-conspirator with murderers, the notorious J. J. Meade, is politely requested to forward his resignation, an invitation by the way that he has thus far treated with silent contempt.

If we remember correctly it was only a few days since that the Postmaster General assured efficient postal clerks that they need feel no apprehension as they would not be disturbed. That sounded well and was favorably commented upon by the Administration organs, but it is one thing to talk and another to act. This fact has just been fully illustrated in this immediate vicinity. The postal clerk on the Bangor and Bar Harbor route who was appointed six months ago, has just taken his test examination and his mark was 997.10, a most excellent record. Now under the exact terms of Mr. Vilas' circular this efficient clerk would have been retained in the service, the high standard of which he says he is eager to maintain, but instead of that he is displaced to make room for a young man whose character is, so far as we know, above reproach, but whose especial qualifications for this important position is the fact that he is a relative of the Democratic candidate for Mayor at the last spring election. Such reform as that only tends to disorganize an important branch of the public service, and the Commercial to be consistent should at once enter its protest.

"Col. Morton should forward a copy of the last edition of the Age, in which about a column of space is devoted to criticism of the Postmaster General and the Board of Managers of the Togus Home for the appointment of Postmaster Kirk, for the perusal of the Administration. The fact that the appointment was unanimously recommended by the Board of Managers, a majority of whom are Democrats, headed by President Cleveland and Secretary Endicott, has no weight with the Kennebec machine which is now trying to drag the Soldiers' Home into politics. No one pretends to question the character of the appointee, who was recommended by the Board because they thought it beneath the dignity of the Governor of the Home to handle the mail of the establishment, and because Mr. Kirk had proved himself worthy of the trust and was already identified with the government of the Home for the benefit of which the post office is maintained. The one complaint of the Kennebec Democrats is that Mr. Kirk is a Republican. It is barely possible that the President and Mr. Vilas may think that "Col." Morton and the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee are too free with their criticisms.

The Southern papers as a rule denounce the Administration for asking for the resignation of Meade. Some of them do not hesitate to inform the President that he owes his election to Copiah County methods and cannot afford to insult the shot-gun element. The Vicksburg Post says: "The assassination of Print Matthews in November 1883, undoubtedly had a decided effect upon the election in 1884. In our opinion very few people in Copiah dared to vote against Cleveland for President in 1884, and to that extent, at least, was the Electoral vote of this State affected. When, in our judgment, the proper time arrives for discussing more fully this question, we shall be ready to maintain our opinions and views. Mr. Meade and his co-patriots or confederates contributed greatly to Cleveland's success in Copiah county, and if the Electoral vote of the State had hinged upon the vote of one county, no doubt Mr. Cleveland's partisans in Copiah would have been found equal to the emergency. Now it seems to us very inconsistent for Mr. Cleveland to demand Mr. Meade's resignation, and we agree with the Jackson Clarion (the orthodox Democratic organ of the State) that it amounts to an indictment of a whole people—the very people whose votes were necessary to Mr. Cleveland's success."

One of Thomas Edison's experts has been experimenting during the last four days with an invention on the trains of the Staten Island Railway Company. The new device is intended to permit engineers of trains to communicate easily with one another when the trains are a mile apart and in motion. The medium of communication is the telegraph wires along the railroad and an instrument in the engineer's cab. The appliance is designed to prevent collisions in foggy weather at curves or on terminals. It resembles the telephone in some respects. Flagmen and depot watchers can also use the instrument to communicate with approaching or passing trains, no matter at what speed they may be running. The trials thus far have been conducted with a good deal of secrecy, and neither the operator nor Mr. Edison's private secretary would give any particulars of the invention to a New York Tribune reporter except to state that the experiments were successful and when the plans are ultimately perfected, collisions between trains will be almost impossible. It is considered a most valuable invention and Mr. Edison desires to secure all the foreign patents before making anything known about it. He expects to have it completed in about two weeks. The reporter was informed at the Edison Company's offices in Fifth avenue that the invention was entirely Mr. Edison's property and not a company affair.

The Merchant Marine.

WHAT JOHN ROACH THINKS ABOUT FREE SHIPS—THE QUESTION OF LABOR.

The revival of the talk about building up a merchant marine for this country, under Democratic auspices, has led the free trade organs of New York into a renewal of their shouts for free ships. Mr. John Roach is one of the few men who has had experience both as a builder of ships and an ocean carrier, and the New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Press asked his opinion of the matter. He said:

"This talk about free ships is nonsense. An evening paper in Philadelphia shouts about $150,000,000 being paid foreign vessels for carrying American products abroad. I would like to put some pertinent questions to these theorists. In the first place, do they know how much it costs to carry that amount of traffic? Well, about $450,000,000. If the vessels had been built by American labor they would have cost at least 40 per cent more. Ninety per cent of the cost of a ship is for labor. We have no need to go abroad for the material used in construction, but if we do and also for the labor, who pays the $450,000,000?

"What party would advocate such a policy? Who would dream of attempting to carry it out if they knew what they were talking about when they set out? Take $450,000,000 to the other side and what will the different classes of mechanics do for a living? But if these free ship men would still insist on the right to buy their carrying tools abroad I will give it to them. The next question is how are they going to run them in competition with foreign bottoms? There is only one way—to grind the American sailor's wages down to a foreign level. Three-quarters of the men who sail these ocean steamers have their homes in Liverpool; they are paid Liverpool wages, and live accordingly. Would it be policy to drive our laborers so close that they would be unable to live on this side of the Atlantic, and compel them to make their homes in Liverpool? There their wages would be spent, and their families be reared. What kind of a merchant marine would one have then if a war should break out?

"It will give you an illustration," continued Mr. Roach, "of the necessity of reckoning in the cost of your tools when you compete with foreigners. I had a bright American fellow working for me some years ago. He saw how another man was making money out of the express business, and he got full of the idea of running an express himself. I saw that he was no good to his family while the hobby lasted and offered to keep him on condition that he would live as cheap as he could during the twelve months trial and employ two Americans to drive the two teams he was to start with. He first found that he could not purchase his horses as cheaply as his big competitor, but I evened things by making up the difference myself. Then in order to let him start on equal footing with his rival so far as material was concerned, I sold him oats at the same price as the other man got his.

"He went to work, but he soon found that there were 313 working days in the year and that he was paying his American drivers about 40 per cent more than his competitor was paying the foreign drivers and workmen that he employed. In less than three months' time he came back to his old work here. He couldn't stand living on a foreign wage-earning basis. I told the story to the Chamber of Commerce not long ago just to show them that it was not altogether the difference in the cost of making ships, but the difference in the wages to be paid for running them, that makes the talk about free ships absurd.

"Now, there has been a great deal of talk concerning the development of trade between this country and South America. There are people who say that the South American markets should be opened up for our surplus products. They should remember, however, that the warehouses of England are loaded down, the markets glutted with English products, and that Liverpool is not any farther away from South America than New York is. Now as to the cost of getting the stuff there. I run a line of steamers to Rio myself. Every one of my ships that sails out of this port needs 1,800 tons of coal and fifty-six men for the voyage and costs me from 40 to 60 per cent more to run than if I should start them from Liverpool. I know what I am talking about, because I have figured the cost for each port. Who is going to make up the difference between the American coal bill and the American wage bill, or shall we reduce both to a common level with the rates paid abroad?"

NO ONE WILL DISPUTE.

Life is in constant danger of terminating. This is a statement no one will dispute. A life that is earning anything more than the amount necessary to sustain it, has a money value to some one. The value of a life is as much insurable as a house or a ship. When a wife and small children are dependent upon the income from a single life for their home, food, education &c., it becomes a serious question, should that life terminate from whence comes their support.

Life Insurance comes in and says, "give a small sum yearly and your wife and children will be protected." The young man with a family, before he accumulates much, can throw around them no other protection. By the proper use of a small sum he can guarantee an ample security. It can be done in no other way—hence the popular verdict is in favor of Life Insurance, and particularly in favor of the Cin. Mutual Life, with its cash values and paid amounts, printed into the policy. It is a contract I take pleasure in showing to any and all who may call at my office.

Shakespeare Revised.

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a dull razor!"

You will never know if you will shave at my TONSORIAL PARLOR, for each razor before it is trusted on a patron's face, is brought to such an edge, that a hair dropped on it is severed—we don't have to drop the razor on the hair to cut it as some do.

THE OHIO REPUBLICANS.

Meeting of the State Convention.

Judge Foraker Nominated for Governor.

A Sound Platform Adopted

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, June 11. The Republican State Convention was called to order in the new wigwam in the Market space, at 10 o'clock this morning, by Hon. Joseph K. O'Neal, of Lebanon, Chairman of the Republican State Committee. The delegations of the 88 counties of the State were all full and over 4,000 persons were packed in the wigwam. Hon. J. D. Taylor, of Guernsey county, was announced as temporary chairman and addressed the convention, referring to the outcome of the last Presidential election. Mr. Taylor began his address by saying "Since you last met in convention the most anomalous event in history has transpired in our country. By a combination of crimes, accidents and blunders this Government, with all its great interests, has passed out of the control of the party that saved it from treason and disunion into the hands of the party which through its leaders sought for four long and bloody years to tear it from its proud place among the nations of the earth and hurl its disavered fragments into the vortex of anarchy and dissolution. This crime of crimes, condoned by the over magnanimity of the Republican party, unatoned for and unrepented of by its chief participants, rears its head again in the government at Washington. The soldiers of this Union, brave defenders of their country's honor, have suffered the humiliation of seeing the men they fought and vanquished on the field elevated to the high places of the nation and entrusted with the public welfare. This stigma must be wiped out and here the work must begin, to be completed in 1888."

The success of the Democratic party last fall, the speaker said, was but a half success and this year every nerve of the Administration would be strained to win the victory in Ohio, New York and Virginia needed to ratify the doubtful title to the Presidency. The speaker had no criticisms to make of President Cleveland whom he believed to be infinitely better than the party leaders behind him.

In conclusion the speaker said "We will carry Ohio this year and we will carry the country in 1888 as certainly as the stars are in the firmament above, if the Republicans do their duty. Even now the reverberations of victory are rolling in from the prairies of Illinois where the grand old hero, John A. Logan, has taken a long contested fort. Like that struggle as your inspiration and you will achieve a victory in October that will shake the continent from the mountains to the sea. Ohio is and must ever be a Republican State. The State that so proudly upheld the banner of James G. Blaine in 1884, the resting place of Garfield, the home of Sherman, Sheridan and Hayes, the birthplace of that [illegible] of heroes, Ulysses S. Grant, who is today watching us from the sick room, the [illegible] of the [illegible] the State that gave to the country [illegible] and true soldiers, must ever be a Republican State."

Committees were appointed and the convention took a recess until after dinner.

The convention reassembled at 2 o'clock with over 4000 persons in the wigwam. [illegible] Amos Townsend, of Cleveland, was made permanent Chairman, and Emil Roth, of Cincinnati, Secretary. Hon. Wm. McKinley, Chairman of the Committee on Platform, announced the platform, which was unanimously adopted.

The Platform

It arraigns the Democratic party for the destruction of the Scott law and the consequent increase of taxation and the abandonment of an annual revenue of $2,000,000; demands the enactment of measures for regulation and taxation; favors the most stringent laws to prevent the importation of contract labor and denounces the Democratic Legislature for its treachery to its pledges on this subject; favors the establishment of a National Bureau of Industry, the enforcement of the eight hour law and appropriations from public revenues for general education; demands the restoration of the wool duty of 1867 and denounces the Democratic Congress for failing to make good their pledges in this behalf; demands the repeal of the limitation of pension arrears act of 1878, so that invalid soldiers shall share equally and their pensions begin with the date of their disability for discharge, and not with the date of application; pledges the party to faithfully maintain the present civil service law and to aid in all needed amendments to give it its full force; denounces the administration of President Cleveland for its general discrimination in appointments so far made against the Union soldiers and in favor of men who fought against the Union, declaring that the elevation to important and honorable offices of unrepentant rebels, whose political disabilities have not been removed, is a flagrant violation of the constitution.

The Nominations

Judge Joseph B. Foraker, of Cincinnati, was nominated for Governor on the first ballot, after the adoption of the platform. The nominations of Gen. Robert P. Kennedy for Lieut. Governor, Judge George W. McIlvane for Supreme Judge, and John C. Brown, of Jefferson, for Treasurer, were by acclamation. J. A. Kohler, of Summit, was nominated for Attorney-General, and Wells S. Jones, of Pike, for Board of Public Works. Resolutions of sympathy for Gen. Grant were passed.

MICHIGAN

A Judge's Encounter with a Burglar

DETROIT, June 11. At 3 o'clock this morning Judge Henry B. Brown, of the United States Circuit Court, and wife were awakened to find a masked burglar with a revolver and dark lantern beside the bed, who by threats kept them quiet while he secured money and jewelry, in all amounting to $700 or $800. While the burglar was going through the dressing case the Judge secured his revolver and fired, the shot being returned, but neither took effect. The robber ran down stairs pursued by the Judge, both firing, but the burglar escaped through the window as far as known being uninjured.

ILLINOIS

No More Contract Labor by Convicts.

SPRINGFIELD, June 11. The upper house of the Illinois Legislature passed an important bill this morning, the intent of which is the discontinuance of the system of contract labor in the State Penitentiary. The act provides that in future the entire government and control of the Illinois penitentiaries shall be vested in the penitentiary Commissioners, the Governor being ex-officio a member of the board. The work of the convicts is to be confined to such labor as may be required by the State.

A Disgraceful Scene in the Legislature—Speaker Haines Wants to Fight.

A scene occurred on the floor of the House this morning. On a motion by Mr. West to allow the committee investigating the charges of bribery and corruption full time to continue the investigation, the Speaker made a sharp retort directed at West when the latter showed anger and excitedly said he hoped before the session ended to show up Haines in his true light. Speaker Haines replied that everybody knew that he (Haines) was an honest agriculturalist, but that if West had any grievance he had better adjourn to the ante-room with the Speaker and settle it between themselves. Mr. West shook his fist and replied that he would meet Haines at any time and place. The confusion, laughter and applause which greeted this was simply deafening and without attempting any further business the House adjourned.

RHODE ISLAND.

Arrest of a Forger

PROVIDENCE, June 11. J. H. Duffy, alias John Wilson, was arrested by Detective Parker this noon on the charge of forgery. At Wm. H. Davis' furnishing goods store in Boston, he represented himself as M. P. Murphy, and passed a forged check. Duffy's outfit consisted of four hundred dollars in money, a quantity of clothing, shoes and cigars, a number of letters of recommendation and blank checks on the National Eagle Bank of Boston. He was returned to Boston this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, June 11. It is understood that the Secretary of the Navy has decided to order a court martial for the trial of Paymaster-General Smith, United States Navy, and that the detail for the court will be announced this afternoon or tomorrow.

Appointment by the President.

The President has appointed Richard H. McMahon, of West Virginia, Deputy Second Comptroller of the Treasury, vice Jas. S. Delano, of Vermont, resigned by request.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Election of State Officers.

CONCORD, June 11. The Senate met the House in joint convention at 11 o'clock and proceeded to the election of State officers. The ballot for Secretary of State resulted as follows: Whole number, 318; Chas. F. Stone, Laconia, 125; A. B. Thompson, Concord, 191; and Mr. Thompson was declared elected. Senator Davis, District No. 9, moved to proceed with the ballot for State Printer. Senator Hatch, Democrat, offered a resolution to postpone the matter till June 18th, to enable the House and Senate to examine a bill to be introduced which will materially reduce the cost of printing. The motion was opposed by Senator Stevens, of the Concord District, and Messrs. Marston, of Exeter, Gilmore, of Manchester, Purvis of Newport, and was declared lost on a division.

The roll call was then demanded by Senator Hatch on his motion—lost, 123 voting in the affirmative and 181 in the negative. The ballot for State printer resulted: Scattering, 7; Joseph C. Moore, of Gilford, 23; John B. Clark, of Manchester, 191; and Mr. Clark was declared elected. On the ballot for State Treasurer Edson C. Eastman, of Concord, had 118; Solon A. Carter, of Concord, 182; and Mr. Carter was declared elected. The ballot for Commissary General: Whole number, 208; scattering, 1; Timothy B. Crowley, of Nashua, 112; Frank P. Brown, of Whitefield, 175; and Mr. Brown was declared elected. A committee was appointed to inform the gentlemen of their election. The convention then rose and the Senate withdrew.

Republican Senatorial Caucus—Senator Blair Renominated

The Republican Senatorial caucus, held at Phoenix Hall to-night, was very fully attended by members of the Legislature and the galleries were crowded with spectators. The caucus was called to order at 8 o'clock, and it was voted to proceed to ballot for a candidate for United States Senator. Members voted separately by ballot as their names were called by the clerk. The voting proceeded and the ballot was announced as follows: Whole number, 198, necessary to a choice, 100; ex-Senator J. W. Patterson, 4; ex-Senator E. H. Rollins, 8; Ossian Ray, 12; Gilman Marston, 14; Charles H. Burns, 15; Wm. E. Chandler, 37; Henry W. Blair, 108; and Mr. Blair was declared the nominee. The result was received with enthusiasm.

The vote was a very full one, all of the members except Morill, who is sick at home, having voted. When Mr. Blair was presented he was received with much applause and accepted the nomination and the caucus adjourned.

The defeated senatorial candidates were surprised at Blair's nomination, his strength in the caucus being so much greater than either of them.

Ex-Senator Rollins attributes the action to-night to the stand taken by certain Republicans in the Legislature four years ago in opposing the proposition to elect a successor at that time, and the ominous aspect created by the bolters of the canvass. There is no talk of a serious character of bolting Blair's nomination.

A Statement by ex-Gov. Hale

KEENE, June 11. In an interview with an Associated Press reporter, to-night ex-Gov. Hale made the following statement:

"I have made an examination of my financial condition in connection with some of my business friends and creditors and believe I can meet all my liabilities if I can have a reasonable extension. I hope to begin the payment of claims in a short time. I regret to ask an extension but the necessity is upon me. I have full courage to believe that I can satisfy all debts."

The Queen to Consult with Gladstone

LONDON, June 11. The Queen has made an appointment to confer with Mr. Gladstone on the present crisis in the British political affairs. The conference will take place next Saturday at Balmoral Castle. The Queen has arranged to return to Windsor Castle the 20th inst.

What the London Standard Says

The Standard says it is understood that the Queen has requested Gladstone to transmit to her his views in full on the political crisis in order that an arrangement may be made to avert an immediate change in the British ministry. It is not expected, the Standard continues, that the Queen will accept the resignations of the Ministers or that any final decision will be reached concerning the question of changing the Government until her majesty returns to Windsor castle. The Conservatives can do nothing, this paper argues, until the Queen's wishes shall be made known, and in the meantime it is doubtful if the Liberal Cabinet can hold together so great are the differences at present existing between its members.

There exists a suspicion which daily deepens, the Standard further declares, that the Gladstone ministry courted their recent defeat for the purpose of concealing behind its excitement their own dissensions. Statements made since their defeat by some of the Liberal members who absented themselves from the vote on the fatal division show that the government might have saved themselves on that vote if they had cared seriously to do so.

Believed that Gladstone will Head a Reconstructed Cabinet.

The latest reports from authentic sources indicate the eventual return of Gladstone to office at the head of a reconstructed anti-coercion Cabinet. Mr. Gladstone still wishes to abandon political life and if he changes his mind and continues at the head of British political affairs it will be at the urgent solicitation of the Queen. A large number of official telegrams have passed to-day between London and Balmoral.

Gladstone Summoned to Balmoral.

A royal courier arrived in London this evening bringing the Queen's reply to Gladstone's letter. It is understood that the reply contained an imperative summons for Gladstone's attendance at Balmoral and the Premier left for Scotland by the next train.

How German Diplomats Look at It.

BERLIN, June 11. German diplomats declare that there were two great reasons for the overthrow of the British Ministry. One was the failure of Earl Rosebery's recent visit to Berlin, which they claim was for the purpose of endeavoring to effect a reconciliation between Gladstone and Bismarck; the other was the failure of Chamberlin's mission to Paris for the purpose, it is asserted of forming an Anglo-French alliance for the control of Egypt. Both these plans failing, Gladstone, they say, saw his foreign policy collapse and determined to retire from political life, since he courted defeat on the Budget.

Opposed to Bi-metallism.

The Bundesrath refused to entertain petitions urging the adoption of bi-metallic currency. A law taxing Bourse transactions has been Gazetted.

Death of the Ameer of Afghanistan Affirmed

ST. PETERSBURG, June 11. The Novosti affirms its statement that the Ameer of Afghanistan is dead. It says rumors are being received continually, both from Caucasus and the Afghan frontier, of the assassination of the Ameer. The Novosti adds that the people of Afganistan are in a state of great excitement, rumors of the death of the Ameer having reached them followed by another rumor that Ayoub Khan, the former Ameer now interned in Persia, will take the place of the murdered Ameer through the machinations of Russia.

An Ovation to Michael Davitt

DUBLIN, June 11. Michael Davitt received an ovation here last night. The occasion of the demonstration was that the term of his ticket of leave expires today. It is reported that Davitt will contest County Mayo at the approaching parliamentary election. John O'Connor Power now represents the county.

The Cholera on the Increase in Spain

MADRID, June 11. The cholera in Spain is spreading and the increase in the number of cases now daily reported is causing great alarm among the people. In Valencia there have been forty five new cases reported since the last previous returns of yesterday. Castillo announces eighteen deaths in the Province of Murcia. There are sixty cases resembling cholera. This number includes twenty-eight cases in the city of Murcia.

Presentation of Diplomas
Class Ode
Benediction

At the close of the parts Prof. Parsons in a few well chosen words presented the diplomas and the class then joined in singing the class ode which was generally conceded to be the best ever written at the Institute. Over 800 people witnessed the exercises crowding Union Hall to its utmost capacity. After the close of the exercises the anniversary dinner was served at the Lancey House. Post Prandial remarks were made by Hon. Henry Williamson, J. C. Connor, Rev. S. C. Whitcomb, Rev. Mr. Kinney, Dr. Bryant, Fowler Manson and a large number of the graduates and also each of the teachers in the school. The corps of teachers in the school remains the same except that Miss Manson who has taught French and German very acceptably resigns. The music for the day by Pittsfield Band, received much merited praise.

The steamer Katahdin arrived in this city early yesterday afternoon and looks very fresh and nice in her new coat of paint, received inside and out. Capt. Homer was on the boat yesterday for the first time since recovering from his recent severe illness. His many friends were pleased to see him in this city and hope that his health may continue to improve.

Capt. W. R. Roix at the time that the steamer Penobscot came on the route this spring was in Belfast as master of each one of the three boats within twenty-four hours. He went into Boston on the Katahdin, came out on the Cambridge and was transferred to the Penobscot between Winterport and Bucksport. This was the first time that such an incident ever occurred on the route.

BAND OF HOPE. The Secretary of the Band of Hope, Miss Lilla M. Waldron, has submitted the following report for the year ending June 7, 1885: The Band of Hope, of Bangor, organized in Stetson's Hall, June 8, 1884, with twenty-seven members, including teachers and scholars. Now at the end of the first year we have enrolled on our pledge five hundred and fifty names. The anniversary exercises consisted of singing, recitations, and speeches. Although the weather was unpleasant, a good number were present to listen to the very pleasing address by Rev. N. H. Harriman, who is much interested in the work. The report for the year is as follows: Total attendance, 650; largest attendance at one time, May 31, 1885, 195; smallest, June 27, 1884, 43; average, 175; largest collection fee, June 7, 1885, $3.00; smallest fee, June 24, 1884, 17 cts; average, $1. Sunday, June 28th, has been selected as the date upon which contributions will be asked in all the churches for the Maine General Hospital in Portland. The contributions of the several churches and religious societies, made annually on Hospital Sunday, have afforded invaluable aid, and the managers of the Hospital believe the people of this State will cheerfully and generously respond on that anniversary of so worthy a charity.

STAR IN THE EAST COUNCIL, United Fellowship, enjoyed a pleasant entertainment at their hall last evening, a large number being present. A portion of the exercises were the following: Song by Miss Staples, "Maggie's Secret"; reading by Miss Ray; violin solo by Miss Cushing; recitation by [illegible] [illegible]; duet by Mrs. Cushing and Miss Perkes; song by Miss Walsh, "Sweetheart." All the parts were well given and were loudly encored. After the programme [illegible] refreshments were served.

PRESENTATION. A very pleasant incident occurred Wednesday noon at the Penobscot Exchange. Mr. A. R. Pickard, the proprietor, was called into the dining room where all his employes were assembled, and Mr. Frank Stevens, the head waiter, made a neat speech and in behalf of those assembled presented Mr. Pickard with a fine carving set. The gift was made to show the high esteem in which the employes hold Mr. Pickard. The latter was completely surprised but thanked the givers in a few pleasing words.

HISTORICAL. Mr. William Boyd, keeper of the arsenal, brought into our office yesterday another one of the canteens that were mentioned a few days ago. This one is particularly interesting from the fact that it contains the following plain inscription: "A. Boyden, Foxboro, 1[illegible] Infant 1814." Mr. Boyd states that there are a large number of these canteens, the [illegible] all of which are [illegible] in a fine state of preservation. NATURAL HISTORY COLLECTIONS. Mr. F. S. Bowler is [illegible] a fine specimen of a golden eagle, a bird that appears very rarely in this State, this being the first specimen taken in Maine for four or five years. This bird was captured on Wednesday by a Carmel farmer first as it was about to fly away with a fine Plymouth Rock hen. The shot fired at him partially disabled [illegible]. The birds are found in California and other states in the far West where they are very plenty. The first of this month Mr. Bowler will go to Bar Harbor and start a Maine Museum there in a fine location opposite the Rodick House. Here he will place on exhibition stuffed specimens of every animal and bird found in Maine and a full collection of birds' eggs. His display at the New Orleans Exposition is to be brought to Bar Harbor and large additions to be made to it here, so that the collection will be complete. The moose deer portion [illegible] bears to be taken to Bar Harbor [illegible] at Mr. Bowler's rooms.

FISK JUBILEE SINGERS. A very good audience was at Union Hall last evening to listen to the beautiful music of the Fisk Jubilee Singers. Our musical people were out in full force and there has rarely been an entertainment of the kind in Bangor that gave them so much genuine pleasure and satisfaction as that of last evening. The high reputation hitherto gained by these singers had prepared the audience to hear fine music and their expectations were fully realized. There were ten of the singers and fifteen selections on the programme, the most of which were the south[ern] melodies and were sung in the manner that characterizes all of the negro music. Nearly every piece was heartily encored and in some cases the singers were obliged to respond to these encores two or three times. The male quartette and the solo by Mrs. Cole were perhaps among the finest selections of the evening. The lady has a beautiful voice and in response to an encore sang "The Last Rose of Summer" splendidly. As a closing selection the singers gave "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

ROYAL ARCANUM

An Interesting Occasion at the Hall of Bangor Council Last Evening

One of the most enjoyable meetings ever held by an order in this city was that last evening held by Bangor Council, No. 123, Royal Arcanum. This council was organized in 1878, but no decided efforts were ever made until about one year ago, when Mr. Charles J. Wardley became its Regent. Mr. Wardley at once commenced very active work in its behalf, and by his energy and perseverance the Council has gradually grown in numbers until last evening the initiation of three candidates made the membership exactly one hundred. This event the Council decided to celebrate and accordingly last evening members of the councils at Ellsworth and Old Town were present by special invitation. The initiates were Messrs. E. N. Egery, G. W. Parker and C. A. Averill. After a very pleasant and profitable meeting the members of the Council adjourned to their banquet hall, where a most attractive spread prepared by Caterer Fred Johnson awaited them. Everything was served in excellent style, and after all had done the refreshments ample justice, Regent Wardley called the assembly to order.

After a few remarks he called upon Regent Burnham, of the Ellsworth Council, who responded with a pleasant speech. Regent Doyle, of the Old Town Council, next made remarks and was followed by Mr. Chilcott, of Ellsworth. Mr. George Godfrey, of Old Town, being called upon gave a humorous declamation and in response to the demands of the company was obliged to render a second one. Dr. Shepard, of the Bangor Council, read a very interesting history of the Council, introducing many witty illustrations. Mr. H. C. Quimby, Past Regent of Bangor Council, being called upon paid a high tribute to the work of Regent Wardley in behalf of the Council and the latter responded with an interesting speech. Mr. Charles I. Collamore made a very feeling speech in regard to the benefits paid the widows and orphans of the deceased brothers and before closing, in a finely worded speech, presented a handsome gold headed cane to Mr. Wardley. The cane bears the inscription, "Presented to C. J. Wardley by Bangor Council, No. 123, Royal Arcanum." Mr. Wardley was completely overcome with surprise, but found words to very gracefully express his thanks to the members and at the close he was applauded heartily. S. J. Stewart, Esq., made a brief speech and remarks by Mr. Wiggin, of Ellsworth, closed the exercises of this very pleasant occasion.

EAST MAINE CONFERENCE SEMINARY

Graduating Exercises of the Class of 85 At Bucksport Yesterday—A Detailed Report of the Exercises of the Day—Awarding of Prizes—Complimentary to Andrews' Orchestra

Commencement day opened bright and fair and when the hour of exercises arrived and Andrews' Orchestra had delighted the audience, the salutatorian bowed to as full a house as Bucksport ever saw on such an occasion. The salutatory was as unintelligible to the majority of the audience as all salutatories are, but the speaker handled the dead language with care and did considerable by his expressions to elucidate the subject.

The next speaker, Josie M. Buckley, of Bucksport, spoke on the subject of "Influence" and presented the various qualities and characteristics in men that are most potent in endowing him with strength and power. The influence of home was especially emphasized and its strength in directing the course of life was shown.

"Chinese Gordon" by Henry T. Nevens of Bucksport was an able eulogium upon the London hero, and was a rapid sketch of his remarkable life. The speaker showed him to be one of the greatest men of this century and one of the most illustrious in English history, as unique as Livingstone and with a will as indomitable and a faith in God as abiding.

Emanating by the next speaker, Annie I. Roney, of Frankfort, was a grateful testimony to the influence of learning and a worthy and fitting tribute to the power of cultivated minds in every realm. The subject, Resources of the West, by John Swinsy of Bucksport was treated in an interesting manner and was doubly interesting, too, from the fact that the speaker had traveled extensively beyond the Mississippi and had slept within the sound of the [illegible] and had loped through rolling [illegible] as a "bucker" and knew thoroughly whereof he spake. The subject, Liberty, was next treated by Miss Annie M. Ball of Bucksport, and natural, limited and civil liberty defined and the blessings which it confers on us were shown in a fitting panegyric pronounced upon all who have ever striven for it and especially upon [illegible] struggle [illegible]. The subject was so well treated [illegible] give [illegible] liberty or give [illegible] death.

The Pilgrim Mothers [illegible] merited [illegible] Miss Isabel Hill [illegible] the spirit [illegible] of the Pilgrim Fathers which it bestowed [illegible] upon the Pilgrim Mothers. It was a woman whose foot first [illegible] Plymouth Rock and it was her [illegible] courage and strength that inspired strength and courage in the hearts of the fainting colonists.

Our Nation's Hero by Fred A. Gong[illegible] of Bucksport was an expression of the Nation's love for the Appomattox hero, Gen. Grant, and was an index of the esteem in which every good citizen holds him. Miss Gussie McAllister, of Bucksport, next discussed "Our Nation's Perils" and named the possible rocks that may lie in the course of our ship of state. The subject was treated with candor and suggested questions in regard to our Nation's future that might be considered with profit by older heads. The speaker, however, was no pessimist but points to a bright future for our golden age and to the ultimate triumph of the principles upon which our government is founded. Hidden Workers, by L. Ardelle Storer, of Milo, showed the amount and value of work done by little and hidden things in nature and the influence of little things in human life. The hidden thought in the mind of man precedes the great invention or the work of art. Incentives to Action, by Miss Addie Whitmore, of Bucksport, was one of the best articles of the day and in it were shown and weighed the various motives that actuate men, and in it too were pointed to the true and highest source of action. Our love for God should be the mainspring of all our acts and in it we should find our incentive to every duty.

Decision of Character with the valedictory by John Q. Wood of Bucksport is pronounced to be one of the finest orations ever delivered by an undergraduate. It was strongly written and delivered in a manner highly complimentary to the speaker and very impressive to the audience.

The awarding of prizes for excellency in declamations and readings was no easy task this year and the competition was a close one and many wished that there were four prizes instead of one. But after considerable deliberation the committee made the following award: For excellency in declamations the prize was divided between Wm. M. Crawford of Camden, and Hugh R. Hatch of Islesboro. In reading the prize was given to Miss Bertie Kingsbury, of Bradford; prize in moral science to Miss Addie Whitmore, of Bucksport; political economy to C. Isabel Hatheway, of Assonet Village, Mass.; English composition to Miss Gussie McAllister; book keeping to Miss Annie I. Roney, of Frankfort.

The graduating exercises passed off in a manner very creditable to all concerned and reflected much credit upon the perseverance and assiduity of Prof. Chase. Andrews' orchestra has won many new admirers here this week and the general verdict is that their music is better even than that rendered one year ago. The following selections were rendered at the commencement exercises and received rapturous applause:

Overture—Stradella	Flotow
Butterfly's Enjoyment	Gringle
Flute Solo—Souvenir a Como	Terschek
Mr. Van Santvoord
Cornet Solo—Ein Vogel	Hartman
Mr. Hall
Medley	Olney

The Commencement exercises closed with the Alumni re-union and sociable in Emery Hall.

Thirteenth Annual Reunion

The Second Maine Cavalry, 14th, 21st, 22d, 2[illegible]d, 24th, 28th and 31st Infantry Association will hold their reunion at Eastport, Me., on the 2d, 3d and 4th of July. A cordial invitation has been received from the G. A. R. Post and the citizens, and entertainment will be furnished to all who attend. Railroad and steamboat fares will be the only necessary expenses. One fare over all the railroad lines. Steamboat fares from Boston $6, and Portland $5, to Eastport and return. Members on the Maine Central will notify F. E. Boothby, General Ticket Agent, Portland, and tickets will be sent to their stations. The Boston delegation will leave Wednesday morning, July 1st, at 8 o'clock, on the steamer Cumberland of the International Line from Commercial wharf—same steamer will leave Portland at 6 o'clock P. M. It will be more convenient for members in western and central part of State to take this steamer at Portland. Members from eastern Maine can go to Calais and go down the river a short distance leaving Calais at 8 o'clock Thursday morning or Friday morning. Band assessment $1. Staterooms $1 to $4 extra. Meals 50 and 75 cents on boat. Those desiring state rooms will notify the Secretary.

The exercises will consist of a camp fire Thursday evening. Business meeting and other exercises Friday—ball in the evening. Parade with the citizens and G. A. R. on the morning of the 4th—followed by banquet, speeches etc. Fireworks in the evening. No pains will be spared to make this one of the most enjoyable reunions ever held. Eastport is the most easterly section of our country and its surroundings present many attractions. [illegible] It is hoped that there will be a large attendance and that no comrade will let the coming meeting at Portland or any other event stop him from taking this trip. Meeting of the members and Maine Veterans of Massachusetts will be held at the office of the Secretary, 3 Portland street, on Wednesday evening, June 17th, at [illegible] to complete the arrangements. All Maine soldiers residing in Massachusetts are cordially invited to attend. All members who will attend the reunion are requested to notify the Secretary a few days previously. Members who cannot attend are requested to forward the annual dues $1.00.

Building Nests

BY REBECCA R. [illegible]

Month of roses balmy June!
All her song birds are in tune,
And each one in eager quest
For a place to build a nest.

Through the green fields to and fro
All the livelong day they go,
While the broad expanse doth ring
With their merry chattering.

Busy architects are they—
Never idle for a day
Fashioning each structure neat
Inside a shady cool retreat.

Structures wrought of odd cast things—
Feathers straws and mossy strings,
All in dainty form combined
Has cred well and softly lined.

One is building here I see
On the garden apple-tree
That with fragrance fills the room
From its wealth of rosy bloom.

Hard they work from [illegible]
One fine morning I saw one
With a bit of lace that I
Hung upon a bush to dry.

Robin Redbreast that is he
Swinging on the cherry tree
For his nest he found a place
It's the rogue that stole my lace.

Summer Life at the Insane Hospital

[Portland Argus.]

Perhaps the most interesting community in the State is that at Augusta under the care of Dr. B[illegible] Sanborn his assistant physicians and a board of trustees of which Hon. James Weymouth of Old Town, is president and D. O. Bowen, Esq., of Morrill secretary. This community is the hospital for the treatment of mental infirmities. It now numbers more than six hundred souls, counting officers and employes with patients, the latter at the present time numbering upwards of four hundred and eighty, or something more than twenty in excess of the average year by number. In a majority of cases much personal solicitude is felt by families and friends and the interest in the institution is general in all parts of the State are represented in the patients.

Summer life has now been fairly [illegible] and is much more agreeable to convalescents and the public of rational enjoyment in a greater or less degree [illegible] this number constitutes a large proportion of the whole. The orchestra which has discoursed excellent music for dances, concerts and dramatic entertainments, conducted by Mr. [illegible] R. [illegible] the supervisor, has now changed to a good military band of eighteen pieces, led by Prof. F. K. [illegible], teacher of music. Their exhilarating strains are heard frequently in suitable weather.

Near the hospital is a pleasant [illegible] park of some two acres where the patients under care of attendants take long airings in the sunshine enjoying themselves at will, some at ball and other athletic sports, strolling, lolling upon the grass and seats, or indulging in their own peculiar fancies which are various and strange. Not all realities to the individual sustaining them. Some of these deluded ones are very pleasant. A tall spare man with good presence and address who formerly figured prominently in Maine mining schemes now counts his wealth in unknown millions and scatters it in a style from which the Vanderbilts, Goulds, Astors and other millionaires might take a useful hint. For human sake the Colonel, in his fancy has telephone communication with his [illegible] which he conducts his business operations. Another has solved the mystery problem of perpetual motion which has so long vexed the scientific world and still another has invented a little machine which may be attached to any vehicle, not even excepting a wheelbarrow, and increase its propelling power to an almost incalculable degree. There is millions in it if he can only get somebody to take hold of it. The Colonel has no time to bother with it but is willing to let him have a couple of millions to start it on if he needs it. As soon as he can sell off the stock and enterprising individual proposes to turn the institution into a cotton mill, employing those who are able to labor, and building the balance at some first class hotel from the profits of the mill.

Some complete in their personal identity declining to answer to their own names, but responding cheerfully to their assumed name and character. Any attempt to disabuse them [illegible] is usually received with resentment or profound pity for the world's enlightenment. One cannot but listen to them with interest and seem kind to them for the shadows of minds many of them once much above the average in strength and intellect. But the physician's are patient and [illegible] they are rewarded [illegible] to be a hopeless case. Within the past year a person who had not [illegible] realized the nearest relatives and friends for more than a month has emerged from the cloud and [illegible] a thorough convalescent.

Lawns ornamented by flowers, [illegible] pleasing, during rustic arbors, summer houses, croquet ground [illegible] the patients [illegible] the grounds [illegible] suitable [illegible] number [illegible] boarders [illegible] [illegible]

Evening entertainments of [illegible] and stereopticon views are occasionally given in the hall. A performance of this description was given a few evenings since which was [illegible] by the patients. It would have been [illegible] with pleasure by the most intelligent audience that could have been gathered. Those taking part were of the [illegible] of scenes [illegible] [illegible] that might have [illegible] in public [illegible] The applause was bestowed [illegible] the most proper and discriminating [illegible] This was all the more notable as the music was of a high order and the readings principally from Dickens' best efforts.

The taste for reading is abundantly gratified by the Colonel Black library of nearly five thousand volumes, [illegible] the institution by the [illegible] name it bears. The history [illegible] travels, biography, science, poetry and fiction. Then there is a reading room in which nearly all the leading [illegible] periodicals may be found and a great variety of newspapers. Once a week the newspapers are distributed generally throughout the halls, thus giving all an opportunity to keep posted on the topics of the day.

The farm of about three hundred acres cuts from 250 to 300 tons of hay. Nearly fifty acres are under cultivation for potatoes, corn and the various products of the garden. Some sixty cows, three yoke of oxen, a dozen working and driving horses and a large number of Chester swine constitute the farm stock.

Mr. John W. Chase, who assumed the duties of steward and treasurer in February last, is an intelligent official, and nothing seems to escape his personal attention in his line of duty. If his stewardship does not bring forth a good exhibit it will not be from lack of untiring and intelligent attention.

A new department has been formed and placed in charge of Mr. Wm. H. Allen, the florist. He now not only has the green houses and ornamentation of the grounds, but the orchard and house garden of some sixteen acres. An idea of the drain upon such a garden may be had from the fact that three hundred pounds of squash are required for a single meal, or about a dozen bushels of peas all shelled. It was very judicious to consolidate these departments with so skillful and faithful a man as Mr. Allen at the head.

Gov. Robie is a frequent visitor to the hospital, and takes a warm interest in the affairs. Mrs. C. H. Whidden, of Calais, the lady visitor, makes regular monthly visits that are conducive to the welfare of all. Her cheery voice and many little acts of kindness make her always welcome.

Some of the features of summer life at the Insane Hospital are thus briefly described to exhibit the bright side of a sombre picture—to show what is done for the alleviation and cure of mental derangements at one of the best institutions in the country, most ably and humanely conducted by Dr. Sanborn. Maine has good reason to be satisfied with this noble hospital and the high rank it has attained among similar institutions in the land.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, The angel of death has entered our Order, and has removed with His mysterious hand, from earthly scenes and earthly cares, our worthy and respected brother, Jonathan Buswell, therefore,

Resolved, That in his removal the Order has sustained the loss of an efficient and faithful member.

Resolved, That we the members of Carmel Council, tender our earnest and heartfelt sympathy to the near friends of our departed brother in their great affliction, and assure them of our remembrance in this their hour of grief.

Resolved, That in the loss of Brother Buswell his family has been bereft of a kind and affectionate husband and father and our fraternity an honored member.

Resolved, That we ever cherish a fond remembrance of him and regretting his removal from the Order, we mourn for one who was every way worthy of our respect and esteem, although we shall miss his pleasant smile and cordial greeting, we endeavor to bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That these resolutions be inscribed on the records of the Council, and a copy be sent to the family of the deceased brother, also a copy to the COURIER for publication.

WARREN LELAND,

whom everybody knows as the successful manager of the Largest Hotel Enterprises

of America says that while a passenger from New York on board a ship going around Cape Horn, in the early days of emigration to California, he learned that one of the officers of the vessel had cured himself, during the voyage, of an obstinate disease by the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Since then Mr. LELAND has recommended AYER'S SARSAPARILLA in many similar cases and he has never yet heard of its failure to effect a radical cure.

Some years ago one of Mr. LELAND'S farm laborers bruised his leg. Owing to the bad state of his blood an ugly scrofulous swelling or lump appeared on the injured limb. Horrible itching of the skin with burning and darting pains through the lump, made life almost intolerable. The leg became enormously enlarged, and running ulcers formed discharging great quantities of extremely offensive matter. No treatment was of any avail until the man, by MR. LELAND'S direction, was supplied with AYER'S SARSAPARILLA which allayed the pain and irritation, healed the sores, removed the swelling, and completely restored the limb to use.

Mr. LELAND has personally used for Rheumatism, with entire success; and after careful observation declares that in his belief there is no medicine in the world equal to it for the cure of Liver Disorders, Gout, the effects of high living, Salt Rheum, Sores, Eruptions, and all the various forms of blood diseases.

We have Mr. LELAND'S permission to invite all who may desire further evidence in regard to the extraordinary curative powers of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to see him personally either at his mammoth Ocean Hotel, Long Branch, or at the popular Leland Hotel, Broadway, 27th and 28th Streets, New York.

Mr. LELAND'S extensive knowledge of the good done by this unequalled eradicator of blood poisons enables him to give inquirers much valuable information.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 1884

Dr. David Kennedy:

Dear Sir:—I have a right to know and [illegible] my experience with Gravel [illegible] my recovery through the use of your Favorite Remedy. I am a carpenter living [illegible] the trial of which I say. My first comparatively slight attack of Gravel was in the year 1878. It passed away and I had little more trouble until last July 1883. One day when at work in my shop I was suddenly seized with a keen and terrible pain in my left side. I consulted two physicians at once. One said "I can do nothing for you. Your case is incurable!" I was frightened and went to the second, who said [illegible] but gave me a prescription. It did no good. Then began a series of experiences the agony and horror of which words cannot [illegible] Think of it! I was so [illegible] in the street and would fall writhing with agony upon the sidewalk. It was [illegible] Then I began to use Kennedy's Favorite Remedy through Mr. P. P. Caxley. I [illegible] half a bottle when I passed [illegible] stones in succession one of which was nearly one-half an inch long. I persevered with the medicine, the symptoms gradually abated and I have had no more trouble since. I am well thanks to you and "Favorite Remedy." Yours most gratefully

MISS BEECHER'S
Hair or Whisker Dye

For Hair and Whiskers. Will change light or gray hair to a jet black, dark brown or auburn color. It contains no sulphur, lead, or other deleterious ingredient. It requires but a single application to effect its purpose. Washing is NOT required after dyeing, as in the case of other dyes. It is not two separate articles (as are most hair dyes), but a single combination; and experienced wholesale druggists, who have handled all the various dyes, pronounce it the best single preparation for changing the color of the hair which has ever been brought to their notice. Price, 50 Cents. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case, or the money refunded. Prepared only by Dr. G. W. THOMPSON, Rockland, Me. Sold by all dealers.

BLANKS of every description printed, at the shortest notice, at the Whig and Courier Job Office. B. A. BURR.
